

Managing Health And Safety

Course length: 1 hour*

Course Code: 103080BT018

This course gives you the skills to create and manage a successful Health and Safety regime.

Benefits for the Learner

Uncontrolled hazards in the workplace can cause unacceptable damage to the health and well-being of the people who work in and visit a business. The aim of Health and Safety Management is to turn uncontrolled hazards into controlled risks.

This course will enable you to promote a positive Health and Safety culture within your workplace. You'll be shown how to use a cyclical process of problem identification, solution provision and ongoing evaluation to reduce risk or even eliminate it altogether.

Benefits for the Business

Ensuring the health and safety of employees is one of the prime responsibilities of any organisation. Failure to do so represents a moral and commercial shortfall that can have disastrous results for both the organisation and the people who work for it.

Managers who complete this course will have the skills to implement a successful Health and Safety Management regime within your business. They'll be well equipped to create and maintain Health and Safety standards, policies and processes that protect your entire workforce.
